Brandon,

I'm Paul [REDACTED]. I'm emailing you from the Center for HIV/AIDS Educational Studies and Training (CHEST) where I am the Director of Community Outreach. I got an email about an upcoming event of yours at Stonewall. CHEST does a lot of research and supportive interventions for HIV positive gay and bisexual men. To recruit for our projects we usually send outreach workers to gay bars, clubs and other venues.

I was hoping we might be able to attend the event you are hosting at the Stonewall, to hand out palm cards that describe these services. Recruiters are trained to keep very low profiles and not disturb people. They would just hand out cards and then depart. If needed, outreach workers can answer questions men might ask about the projects.

On another note, I'd like to meet with you some time to discuss your ideas and experiences about services for HIV+ gay men in the city. Also, I want to give you more detail about our current studies. Perhaps we could meet one day for lunch or coffee, schedules permitting.

I can be reached by email or phone. My number is 212-206-[REDACTED] Hope to hear from you.

Sincerely,

Paul [REDACTED],

Director of Recruitment and Community Outreach
